Keeping other Now York Daily Name USA Today 4A The Chicago Tribune
Reeping other dictators in check How can we prevent future Saddam Husseins? Do we restrict weapons sales? Seek new security arrangements? Daniel Graham, retired Army lieutenant general; former director, Defense Intelligence Agency, former deputy director, Central Intelligence Agency; "The allies' military success will dampen the enthusiasm of Saddam Husseins throughout the world. There will be pressure to restrict arms sales. But we've had (arms) proliferation treaties for a long time. I raq even signed one on nuclear weapons. But there's no doubt he (Saddam) strenuously tried to acquire them. The simple answer — "let's stop arms sales' — doesn't work."	FILE ONLY	The New York Times The Washington Times The Wall Street Journal The Christian Science Mont
Daniel Graham, retired Army lieutenant general; former director, Defense Intelligence Agency, former deputy director, Central Intelligence Agency; "The allies' military success will dampen the enthusiasm of Saddam Husseins throughout the world. There will be pressure to restrict arms sales. But we've had (arms) proliferation treaties for a long time. Iraq even signed one on nuclear weapons. But there's no doubt he (Saddam) strenuously tried to acquire them. The simple answer — "let's stop arms sales' — doesn't work."	Keeping other
Daniel Graham, retired Army lieutenant general; former director, Defense Intelligence Agency, former deputy director, Central Intelligence Agency: "The allies' military success will dampen the enthusiasm of Saddam Husseins throughout the world. There will be pressure to restrict arms sales. But we've had (arms) proliferation treaties for a long time. Iraq even signed one on nuclear weapons. But there's no doubt he (Saddam) strenuously tried to acquire them. The simple answer — 'let's stop arms sales' — doesn't work."	dictators in check	Date 28 FEB 1991
deputy director, Contral Intelligence Agency: "The allies' military success will dampen the enthusiasm of Saddam Husseins throughout the world. There will be pressure to restrict arms sales. But we've had (arms) proliferation treaties for a long time. Iraq even signed one on nuclear weapons. But there's no doubt he (Saddam) strenuously tried to acquire them. The simple answer — 'let's stop arms sales' — doesn't work."	How can we prevent future Saddam Husseins? Do we restrict weapons sales? Seek new security arrangements?
	deputy director, Central Intelligence Agency: "The allies' military success will dampen the enthusiasm of Saddam Husseins throughout the world. There will be pressure to restrict arms sales. But we've had (arms) proliferation treaties for a long time. Iraq even signed one on nuclear weapons. But there's no doubt he (Saddam) strengously tried to acquire them. The simple	